PROPERTY OWNERS MUST REPAIR PAVEMENTS

Council Secretary of Morrisville To Notify Each Owner at Once

ENGINEER IS CONSULTED

MORRISVILLE, Mar. 14—Property owners here who have paving on their premises which is considered hazardous to the public are to be notified to either replace or make repairs. This action was decided at a meeting of Borough Council held Tuesday night. Notices are to be sent by William H. Howell, Borough Secretary.

After consulting with borough Engineer Harry H. Lee, Jr., on what pavements will need new paving or repair of old, the notices will be sent to a number of residents on the east side of North Pennsylvania avenue, between Franklin and Palmer streets, the west side of Harrison avenue, near South Pennsylvania avenue, along with a small stretch on Stockham avenue.

If property owners do not have their pavements repaired or rebuilt, the borough, in 30 days, will take steps to do the work itself. The irregular paving on the sidewalks in these sections is deemed hazardous to pedestrians.

It was reported that Albright and Friel, consulting engineers of Philadelphia, are being contacted with a view of securing their services for the construction of a new settling basin at the water works plant. They will consult with Engineer Lee shortly.

Bids were authorized to be opened on April 9 for 15,000 gallons of dust oil and 20,000 gallons of C-1 asphalt, to be used for the Summer street program.

It was reported that 900 of 4-inch water main on West Trenton avenue just west of Pennsylvania avenue, connects with 6-inch main on each side, and before the street improvement is started the water committee was authorized to replace this with 6-inch main. The job, 950 feet in length, will cost $1,138 with WPA labor, and start immediately.

Family of Ten Rescued

Haddon Heights, N. J., Mar. 14—Forming a human ladder, police and firemen today rescued a family of 10 trapped by flames on the porch roof of their two-story frame house in Haddon Heights.

Clad in night clothing, the family of Alfred O. Rieger climbed on the roof when dense smoke poured upstairs from the kitchen. Rieger suffered a cut hand, his wife Mabel bruised her leg, and a daughter Betty, 17, wrenched her back before a rescue was effected.

French Senate Meets

Paris, Mar. 14—The French Senate met in secret session today for a full debate on the end of the Russo-Finnish war.

The body met behind closed doors as anger and disillusionment over Finland's fate swept the lobby of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

It was anticipated that the Chamber also would assemble for a full discussion of the allied failure to send sufficient aid to Finland.

The French press—no longer shackled by censorship of political opinions—criticized and even condemned the French and British government for what was termed their lack of boldness and enterprise.

Newspapers demanded that a firm course be taken with neutral nations in future to prevent a repetition of the situation in which Sweden and Norway hindered allied aid to Finland.

Otherwise the papers predicted the totalitarian system might defeat the democratic system.

Finland Asks Co-operation

Helsinki, Mar. 14—Faced with the task of reconstruction and preservation of what she has left, Finland today formally applied to Sweden and Norway for co-operation in a tripartite Scandinavian defense union.

Both governments have indicated their willingness to investigate the possibility of such a pact, an official Finnish announcement said, despite the fact that Finland's peace treaty with Soviet Russia forbids conclusion of alliances without Moscow approval.

The formal statement said: "Finland has applied to the Swedish and Norwegian government regarding the possibility of forming a defense union. Both governments have signified their willingness to investigate the possibility."

No similar application was made to Denmark and there was no explanation of Copenhagen's elimination from the projected alliance.

As the work of reconstruction got under way, Finnish authorities estimated that some 400,000 persons were left homeless and destitute as a result of this country's losing the three and one-half months war against Russia.

Reunited With Nurse

Philadelphia, Mar. 14—In an atmosphere of "all is forgiven," Carl D. Rittenhouse, of Kingston, Pa., and his 24-year-old daughter, Dorothy, were reunited in a police station today.

The reunion came after Rittenhouse—distracted by the girl's disappearance from a Philadelphia hospital, where she is a graduate nurse—received a telegram announcing she had eloped. The message was signed, "Dorothy and Al."

"Al" proved to be Albert Coia, 23-year-old department store salesman, whom Miss Rittenhouse said she met several months ago when he was a patient in the hospital.

DISCHARGED ENGINEER WINS SUIT IN COURT

Verdict Returned for Full Amount of $2,858.37; Against Perkasio Boro'

A THREE-DAY TRIAL

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 14—A verdict was returned at five o'clock last night for the full amount of $2,858.37 in the court of Bucks county in favor of the plaintiff, William F. Murphy, against the defendant, the Borough of Perkasio.

The verdict was reached after a three-day trial. Defense counsel Robert Grim made a motion for a new trial.

Murphy, former superintendent of Perkasio Borough's Electric Light Department, called to the witness stand, said that in his opinion, "Perkasio Borough Council reinstating an employee, Mr. Bintzer, acted over my better judgment."

Murphy, who was dismissed from his position which paid $291.67 a month, sued Perkasio Borough for back salary alleged to be due on an unexpired contract. Murphy was "fired" November 6, 1939, and sued to collect part of November and all of December's salary and an additional $2858.36 salary to August 31, 1940.

The witness also stated that he never recalled making a statement about "not being a switchboard man." The witness also testified that he did not recall much of Mr. Snyder's incidents as related by Snyder.

Fifty or more Perkasio residents interested in the case were in court. "I spent an average of 10 hours a day at the plant," Murphy testified. "There never was a time when I was needed at the plant, that I was not there."

Concerning additional qualifications of Murphy as to his capability, the plaintiff testified that he had charge of power distribution and maintenance at Radio City, Rockefeller Center in New York and before going to Perkasio in 1938 he had control of power distribution for 2,000 New York properties for a large New York City bank.

Murphy testified that he went to Perkasio just when Perkasio's power plant was being enlarged and much new equipment installed—a complete rehabilitation of the plant. He was also there, he said, when the change-over of the new equipment was made in February, 1939.

"The actual job of installing the new equipment was my job," Murphy testified.

The witness further testified that he saved Perkasio money by changing the plant coal from a West Virginia imported coal to a Pennsylvania coal brought in on a low freight rate. This saving amounted to 82 cents a ton or $400 a month to the borough, Murphy testified. Murphy said that he had little difficulty in expressing herself in the English. Her two younger sisters, who came to this country with Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, are enrolled in Miss Betty Anne Johnson's kindergarten, Doylestown.

Mrs. Harry L. Eastwood was elected president of the women's auxiliary of Trinity Episcopal Church, Buckingham, this week, when annual election took place.

Named as first vice-president is Mrs. Martha Straub; second vice-president, Miss L. C. Myers; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Theodore W. Sterling.

Election of officers and plans for the April meeting of the Mothers' Club, sponsored by the group, took place at a meeting of the Loyal Workers' Club of Salem Reformed Church, Doylestown, at the home of Mrs. Harold F. Hellyer, in that borough, Monday evening.

Mrs. Frank L. Frye, who presided at the meeting when 20 women were present, was re-elected president. Other officers include: Mrs. Esther L. Atkinson, vice-president; Mrs. David J. Windholz, secretary; Mrs. Wilmer Gilchrist, assistant secretary; and Miss Reba Barnes, treasurer.

Mrs. Frye announced that Mrs. Frederick H. Clymer will speak on "Child Behaviour" at the April meeting of the Mothers' Club which is one of the major interests of the Loyal Workers Class.

The annual meeting of directors and stockholders of Benah Cemetery Company, New Britain, was held at the home of the secretary, Bertha Haldeman. The company paid a dividend to the stockholders.

The following officers were elected: President, William L. Moore, Doylestown township; vice-president, Daniel Haldeman, Line Lexington; secretary, Bertha Haldeman, New Britain; treasurer, Cora L. Jacoby, Vanuxtom; and superintendent, Norman Haldeman, New Britain.

Director Lapo of the Doylestown Choral Union is preparing the musicians for rendition of Strainer's "Crucifixion" on Good Friday evening in Salem Reformed Church.

On Wednesday evening of Holy Week the group will unite with the choir of the Presbyterian Church in Newtown in presenting this same cantata there where Mr. Lapo is regularly engaged as minister of music.

Facts About Taxes

size, to look the facts squarely in the face.

OF course, the income-tax payer does not pay the whole bill. As has been often pointed out, the indirect taxes, concealed in the cost of living, but which fall upon poor as well as rich, are considerably larger than the direct taxes. However, as they are unconsciously paid daily instead of yearly, they do not cause the acute pain entailed by the annual necessity of paying cash directly into the Government Treasury on a specified date. At any rate, March 15 is an appropriate time to consider the truth about taxes, from which no one is free and which today bear more heavily upon the people than ever before.

THERE are three things about our present taxes which are undisputed, except by a few crackpot economists connected with the Government. One is that the tax burden has become almost intolerably heavy; another that the rates and character of the taxes have put us definitely in the area of diminishing return; third, that the whole tax system is an unscientific hodgepodge, full of inequalities and injustice, awkwardly thrown together by amateurs and badly amended by log-rolling politicians in Congress. That certain of its provisions actually strangle business and kill industrial initiative is too generally accepted to need repetition.

PRACTICALLY everybody admits these things. This being the case, the questions of vital concern to all of us are these: First, will taxes be lower next year? Second, why are taxes so high? Third, what can be done about it? So far as the first question is concerned, the answer emphatically is no.

PLAN SOON TO OPEN PENNSBURY FOR THE PUBLIC'S INSPECTION

Will Mark Eight Years of Excavation, Literary Research, and Construction

ON THE ORIGINAL SITE

Planning for Dedication This Spring With Fitting Ceremonies

The doors of "Pennsbury," the reconstructed manor house of William Penn, will soon be open to the public. The opening will be the culmination of eight years of excavation, literary research and construction on the part of those assigned to the task by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The recreated "Pennsbury," located on a knoll overlooking the Delaware River, near Tullytown, harks back to the days when the founder of Pennsylvania spent happy days there, resting from his many cares.

The new Pennsbury is located on the precise site of the original, and is being landscaped and furnished as it was when Penn lived there. The severe but stately buildings were erected under the supervision of the State Historical Commission and the cost of Pennsbury, completed, will be $500,000.

Because Penn was an early champion of religious liberty historians feel the dedication of Pennsbury this Spring will be a fitting reminder of America's tolerance of creed in a world distraught by paganism and persecution. They want it to rank with Mount Vernon and Williamsburg as a significant and tourist-worthy peacetime shrine.

DECLINE OF HOSPITALITY

"Guest rooms disappearing from American homes," says a news item, with a slight tinge of sadness. Nowadays guests sleep on the living-room davenport the first time they visit. There is no second time.

Nothing so marks the decline of American hospitality as this brief statement—not even the extra can of peas on the shelf or the drop-leaf table that seats four with difficulty.

Grandma always had the guest room ready, fresh linen on the bed, water in the wash bowl, the fire laid on the hearth, ready to be lighted and warming the room before the casual or the expected guest had got his coat and hat off.

Time was when large and comfortable homes, with three or four spare rooms, always had the latch-string out and a ham on the sideboard.

Today's housewife shudders all winter for fear the telephone or the postman will bring news of an arriving guest—and when it does, hopes devoutly he won't stay more than one night. If she lives in the country in summer, she has a constant problem of relatives dropping in, friends who bring everything for the week-end except their towels, linen, food and bathing suits, and the touching business of shoeing Husband up to the attic to sleep and Junior to the front porch swing.

What has made the change? Is it stinginess, laziness or high rents? Is it the servant problem, the cash-and-carry grocery, the high price of food or no cow in the barn and chickens in the pen? Whatever the answer, it's tough going for warm friendships, evidence of increasing self-centeredness and dwindling generosity, and a distinct blot on the escutcheon of noble ancestors.

CONQUERING MAGNETIC MINE

Amidst rumors of peace and intensified warfare comes a development that appears to have eliminated one Nazi war weapon, the magnetic mine. Few, if any, ships have become victims recently of this device, indicating that a successful defense against it has been developed.

When the steamship Queen Elizabeth made New York harbor the big ship was provided with a cable of many strands which encircled her above the water line. It is claimed that by sending electrical impulses through this cable the magnetic mines which have been strewn literally by the hundreds by the Nazis in British waters, can be counteracted.

Since the Queen Elizabeth apparently encountered no mines, the value of this protective device cannot be learned from a single trip, but British naval authorities are reported to be so confident of its effectiveness that they are installing it on all British ships. This answer to the magnetic mine is said to have been devised by a Swedish scientist who has every confidence in it.

If the claims made for it are borne out, the world will again have evidence of the law of compensation, which is to say that no man is gentle enough to contrive a weapon of offense which some other genius cannot offset by an expedient equally clever. Otherwise every war would be a war of extermination.

A novelized biography of Galileo recalls that he developed the telescope. However, it wasn't arranged so that one could see through a key-hole with it and brought him but small returns.

Many Ways To Use Pork Shoulder

Offers Welcome Change From the Usual Ham, Chops and Loin Roast

We are inclined to think of pork in terms of chops, ham, and loin roasts without considering the other cuts which can be used to excellent advantage.

The shoulder is a versatile cut of pork which may be served in many ways. The cushion style picnic shoulder has the hock and the bone removed and is sewed on two sides, giving a square-shaped piece of meat, easy to carve and good to eat. Inez S. Willson, home economist, suggests that a small opening be left on one side to insert a dressing, and for something just a little out of the ordinary here is a recipe for sauerkraut stuffing that's bound to be a winner.

Pork Shoulder Roast

6 pound pork shoulder roast
Have the meat retailer prepare a cushion style roast, using fresh skinned picnic shoulder from which the hock has been removed. The pocket is made by boning from the side. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Season inside and out with salt and pepper. Fill with the Sweet-Sour Kraut Stuffing. Sew or skewer the opening. Roast on a rack in an uncovered pan, without water, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.), allowing 35 to 40 minutes to the pound. Serves 10 or 12.

Sweet-Sour Kraut Stuffing

6 slices bacon
1 large onion
1 tablespoon sugar
1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut
Dice bacon and cook slowly until brown. Add grated onion and continue cooking five minutes. Add sugar and sauerkraut. Heat thoroughly.

BAKED HAM, POTATOES AND ONIONS

Place in a roasting pan:
A 2-pound slice of smoked ham
Peel and slice:
6 medium-sized potatoes
Spread them over the ham.
Sift over the potatoes:
½ cup bread flour
A little paprika
Peel, slice and add:
2 large onions
Cover these ingredients with milk.
Cover the dish. Bake the ham in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. for about 1 hour.

Cupid's Dessert

Make raspberry rennet-custard, following the directions given on the package of Raspberry Rennet Powder. When ready to serve, top with a touch of whipped cream. Center with a heart made by slicing and shaping marshmallow into a heart with scissors. Dip in red sugar. Red sugar can be made by adding a few drops of raspberry red food color to ¼ of a cup of sugar, mixing well and letting dry slightly.

Zestful Winter Dishes

Canned Hawaiian pineapple gems, which are spoon-size chunks cut across the grain to bring out the best flavor, add tang and zest to winter menus. Try them mixed with other fruits topped with a spicy cocktail sauce as an appetizer course or in a refreshing gelatin salad.

Gem Appetizer Cup

1-14 oz. can Hawaiian pineapple gems
3 grapefruit
1 avocado
6 stuffed olives

Wash and halve grapefruit. Pink edge of each shell. Lift out grapefruit segments and remove membrane. Combine grapefruit sections, avocado, which has been cut in cubes, pineapple gems and a little of the sirup. Chill well and fill grapefruit shells with mixture. Garnish each with a stuffed olive. Serve with the following cocktail sauce which has been chilled. Cocktail Sauce: Mix ¼ cup tomato catsup, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons horse radish, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, dash of celery salt.

Yield: 6 servings.

Jellied Pineapple Gems

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1½ cups hot water
½ cup sirup, drained from gems
4 tablespoons lemon juice
Few grains salt
1-14 oz. can Hawaiian pineapple gems, drained
1 cup finely diced celery
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
Lettuce
Fruit salad dressing

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add pineapple sirup, lemon juice, salt. Chill until it begins to thicken. Mix in the pineapple, celery and pimiento. Pour into six oiled individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce leaves; serve with fruit salad dressing.

Yield: 6 servings.

and no drawings of it remained. Hence in the reconstruction it was Penn's own letters that guided the second builders.

The high square manor house dominates Pennsbury, but the cluster of little structures around it fascinates the already numerous visitors. It is the hope of the builders that some day horses may be heard neighing in the stables, that costumes of the Penn period may hang in the wash house, and that the kitchen, bake house and brew house may carry the aroma of eighteenth century food and drink. Those fragments of the original building which were unearthed on the site by Dr. Donald A. Cadzow, State Archaeologist, were used again. Enough bricks and tiles were found to construct a few of the manor house's fireplaces. Broken pipes, hinges, knives and forks, and hoops of a great vat were other excavated discoveries.

The most marked characteristic of Pennsbury Manor is the sharp, angular construction of the buildings, reflecting Penn's abhorrence of curves and conforming to his instructions to arrange the outbuildings in straight lines and "not ascu." A unique feature of the three-story Manor building is the lead tank on the roof. This was Penn's idea, the purpose being to catch the rain, but the heavy tank and its faulty plumbing eventually caused the collapse of the house.

The historical commission's immediate task is the landscaping and formalin a barge.

garden. It hopes to have trees, shrubs and flowers like those brought from England and Maryland in the days when Penn would come up the river

As Pennsbury stands today, externally complete but not yet furnished, it probably comes as near to Penn's hopes as the original mansion. State officials prefer not to have it called a not the front of the house be com- replica, restoration or reconstructed mon," intended it as a show place con- sistent with the dignity of Pennsylv- manor. The Great Game of Politics

Taxes will not be lower next year, but unless we take off the brakes and plunge down the inflationary road to final bankruptcy, they easily may be higher. The end of the economy movement in Congress, the gathering momentum behind the new billion-dollar farm-aid bill and the great weight of the increased armament proposals mean increased deficit or more taxes. Both, of course, are bad, but there is a more immediate and acute danger in the first than in the second.

AS TO the second question, there is but one answer. Taxes are high because of the basic policy of an Administration which has expended 23 billions of public money on the mistaken theory that it could thereby create industrial recovery, rehabilitate agriculture and solve unemployment. It has achieved none of those things. Not even its spokesmen claim that it has. On the contrary, it continues to demand as many millions as ever for relief of the unemployed and many more millions than before for agricultural subsidies. The President sets his face against retrenchment and frowns upon economy. His intimate advisers map out plans for the further "regimentation" of private enterprise, and a new spending program is being urged by the "inner circles." The public debt, some of which is camouflaged, is actually above the 45-billion-dollar limit now. And the Federal finances are in a messy state of uncontrol.

BEYOND question, a great proportion of the money expended in the last seven years has been wasted. Many millions are being wasted now. There is no idea of checking the waste. On the contrary, every effort in that direction meets Administration opposition. Every move toward eliminating useless bureaus and boards and reducing the swollen size of the jobholders' pay roll encounters White House resistance. It makes no sense—this strange insistence upon the wholesale pouring out of public money after it has been demonstrated over and over again that pouring out the money does not solve the nation's problems and when the weakening of the Federal financial structure grows clearer all the time.

AS to what can be done about it—obviously, nothing can be done about it until there is an Administration with a different basic philosophy. It has been made plain that this Administration cannot—or at any rate, will not—change its direction. That direction is toward economic collapse and national disaster. No one has pointed this out more solemnly than Mr. Roosevelt himself in the days when he was seeking to become President. Until there is an Administration with a popular mandate to reverse the direction national solvency cannot be recovered, deficits reduced or taxes lowered. A new Administration with such a mandate, in ninety days, could do a tremendous lot to revive the spirit of business enterprise and put soundness and sense into our tax system. This Administration could do it at this session, but it won't.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

The story of "Drake the Pirate," now at the Bristol Theatre, is the story of that practical genius of Elizabeth's court—the doughty Sir Francis Drake. In a film teeming with pirates, plunder and primitive passions played for the most part on the seas which knew the Terror of the Spanish Main, it is an exciting dramatization of a colorful episode.

The accent's on youth and on goings-on among America's young marrieds in "All Women Have Secrets," comedy drama of campus husbands and wives, which had its first local showing last night at the Bristol Theatre.

RITZ THEATRE

Blazing their way across the screen in a double-barreled barrage of thrills and comedy, a pair of Dead End Kids and the "Little Tough Guys" came to the Ritz Theatre yesterday in "Call A Messenger."

Fay Bainter and Frank Craven, outstanding players on stage and screen for many years, are seen together for the first time as man and wife on the screen in "Our Neighbors—the Carters," which is at the Ritz Theatre.

GRAND THEATRE

"Brother Rat and a Baby," the comedy opening Thursday at the Grand, picks up the lives of the principal characters of last year's comedy hit, "Brother Rat," just one year later.

Apparently, nothing very important happened to the "Brother Rat" characters during the past year. But a lot happened to the film players who are bringing those characters to the screen.

BENSALEM STUDENTS TO GIVE GYMNASIIC DEMONSTRATION

"Greatest Show On Earth" To Be Presented Tonight and Tomorrow Night

325 TO PARTICIPATE

Circus Parade To Open The Big Carnival and Give It Atmosphere

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Mar. 14.—After a long winter's rest the circus generally comes to town in the early spring to start its new series of shows. This year the students of Bensalem High are beating time with an early edition of the "Greatest Show on Earth" when more than 325 students will take part in their 7th annual gymnastic demonstration to be presented in the high school gymnasium here tonight and tomorrow evenings.

In anticipation of the "greatest show they have ever staged" the "interests" backing the show have decided to give it a "two-night" stand in order to accommodate the large crowds expected to witness the "big top."

Those attending the performances will feel the circus atmosphere right from the outset when the show begins with the traditional "circus parade" with the blaring of the band, the fack-dassical stroll of the various animals in the line of march, clowns strutting their stuff, and all the rest of the features of a such a parade.

Leading the line of march will be the school's drum majorette, Edith Stuhlraeger. She will be followed by little "Sandy" Reimer, who will carry a basketball along the route. The gymnasium is decorated to add to the color and atmosphere of the circus back ground. And to maintain that atmosphere clowns will keep the fans amused while the inevitable "peanut vendor and crackerjack" boys will sell their wares among the audience also.

A side show, ice ballet, gymnastics, games, dances, etc., will all contribute to the cause of the "circus" which is expected to entertain for approximately two and a half hours starting promptly at eight o'clock.

Beside the above there is to be also a "wild west show," square dance, the traditional elephant and march of the wooden soldiers as well as various drills to help the show along.

The complete program with summary of the acts in chronological order:

Remarks: Superintendent, Samuel K. Faust; The Circus Parade and Leaders Club March; Indian War Dance; 11th grade boys and girls; Tumbling, girls; Tumbling club; flashlight drill; freshmen boys; rope drill; 8th grade girls; Square Dance, junior girls; boys; apparatus work, junior and senior high boys; Checkmate Parade, girls; tap dance club; The Wild West Show, 11th grade boys.

FIRST CAGE GAME IN SERIES TO BE TONIGHT

BRISTOL BASKETBALL LEAGUE
Schedule for Tonight—
PROF'S-GRUNDY'S
MANHATTAN-LANGHORNE

The first of a three-game series to determine the championship of the Bristol Basketball League will be played tonight with the Grundy quintet clashing with the Profy basketballers on the Italian Mutual Aid floor. In the first game of the night, Manhattan Soap Company's five, which finished fourth in the league standing, will meet the Langhorne Red Raiders, one of the leading clubs in the Morrisville League.

Because of its season's record, the woolen workers' team is a slight favorite over Johnny Slaven and Company but there is a big question mark to this as "Bucky" Buckman, who was greatly instrumental in the Grundyites capturing the regular scheduled season games is on the injured list. Whether Buckman will be able to take the floor against the Profy team is doubtful and Manager Hermann will be at loss to find a replacement that will equal Buckman.

The playing of Slaven and Ray Dosey towards the close of the season had much to do with the Profy victories. These two, with Charlie Hughes, Bucky Profy, Chick Klein, Pete Borinice, and Gus Carnvale, carried the radiomen through a playoff game with Manhattan and then two straight victories over the 1938-39 champions, Rohm & Haas. Previous to that they had won three straight and so now they have six straight wins to their credit.

Johnny Zack and Red's Gallagher are the mainstays of the Grundy team. These two scorers were among the leaders in the circuit and in order to win the Mill Streeters must stop these two men. There is also a likelihood that Manager Hermann may start Earl Lovett at center against the Profy team. Lovett has not played in the loop all season but was signed and therefore is eligible. What he can do remains to be seen.

Also in the Grundy lineup will be one of the best guards in this vicinity in the Polish Eddie Nowalinski. This former Morrisville High School star has been pitted against every high scorer in the local circuit and always justified his placement by holding down the scorer. He will be assigned to guard Johnny Slaven and if successful much will point to a Grundy victory.

The most improved player in the league this season is Jesse Vanant. Jesse will be at the other guard post and will be on Ray Dosey. This should prove an interesting match.

In the Morrisville League, the Red Raiders reached the finals and are still fighting for the championship. With skinny Davis, Angie Rice, Rice, Bond, and Stradling in the lineup, it will be a close game with Manhattan.

Discharged Engineer

Wins Suit In Court

discussed the coal matter with the installing engineer.

The next witness—called out of order—was George E. Hetherington, general manager of the Perkaskie Silk Mills Inc., largest users of electric power in Perkaskie, 100,000 kilowatts a month. He testified that he knew of one interruption of electric power service on October 20, 1939, when the mill shut down one morning after it had started up.

"With the exception of the two brief shut-downs in service, the Perkaskie electric service under Murphy's superintendency was okay," Hetherington testified. "The shut down was about 20 minutes."

The witness, under cross-examination, said that his company never complained of the shut-down in service.

Murphy was then called by defense attorney Grim for cross-examination.

"Do you mean to tell this Court and jury that you supervised the installation of new machinery?" attorney Grim asked.

"I did," Murphy replied. "Isn't it true that your cheap coal ordered for the Perkaskie plant almost ruined the boilers?"

"It is not true," the plaintiff answered.

"Isn't it true the cheap coal caused a slag in the boilers?"

"No, it is not."
